

ARTICLE OF APPAREL WITH AREAS OF INCREASED TENSION

Abstract of the Invention

An article of apparel having improved body conformity including a body of material formed of a stretchable fabric. A stretchable piece of material is secured to the body of material and has a size and shape configured to at least partially cover an area of a user's body between anatomical high points of the user's body.